Increase in Customs Receipts Hoped For—Panama Bonds May Increase Balance Until Fall. Rescuers Collapse As They Bring His Body to Surface—Fans Admit Fresh Air.

President Taft conferred for two hours yesterday afternoon with Secretary Knox, Secretary MacVeagh and Senator Aldrich as to the tariff bill and the financial condition of the government.

For the first time the new tariff bill was considered in detail by the President and his Secretary of the Treasury. Mr. MacVeagh took up the bill a few days ago and began deliberate study of its provisions.

President Taft will from now on confer frequently with republican leaders and others as to schedules of the bill, so that he may be thoroughly posted before a measure is finally passed.

One result of the conference was that it will not be necessary to issue bonds to secure revenues for the government before some time next fall. It is admitted that such a course looks inevitable at this time.

Treasury receipts show gratifying increase at this time. With cash on hand and proceeds from the sale of Panama bonds to repay the Treasury for expenditures upon that work it is believed the Treasury will be able to meet its obligations for six months or possibly longer.

The Treasury has been advancing money right along for the account of the canal. In the next month or so Panama bonds will be sold to bring in money to meet the Treasury's needs.

The administration is exceedingly desirous of escaping an issue of bonds or of Treasury certificates intended merely to meet expenditures that ought to be paid out of daily receipts. If matters can be held over until fall or early winter with the money on hand and derived from Panama bonds, the Treasury will then begin to show what may be expected of it in the way of revenues.

Opposed to Inheritance Tax. Senator Aldrich is opposed to the inheritance tax proposals of President Taft. It is said this subject was discussed yesterday afternoon.

The Rhode Island senator is understood to be firm in his determination that if he can have his way there will be no inheritance tax in the tariff bill or as a separate measure. In this the President and the senator have their first clash.

Mr. Taft holds to his opinion that there should be such a tax, both for the revenues it will yield and because it is just that there should be such a tax.

Senator Aldrich will meet the warmest kind of opposition on this score in the Senate, it is known. The belief is expressed by those favoring an inheritance tax that the senator will not be able to win in the end, but he probably not in the committee on finance.

Senator Aldrich has let the President know that the Payne bill will be ridden in the Senate and will probably not be in so many ways as to be unrecognizable. In spite of this he expresses the opinion to the White House that the bill will be finally passed.

No Repetition of Wilson Bill. Senator Aldrich and other republican leaders do not doubt the ability of Congress to present to the White House a bill that will meet approval there. They do not believe there will be any repetition of the situations arising about the time of the passage of the Wilson bill.

They inform themselves that they may look for numerous changes and that he may not get everything he wants. A sincere effort will be made, they promise him, to enact a tariff bill that will meet the conditions of the country and the desires of the majority of the people.

Panama Bond Issue. Secretary MacVeagh has authority under existing laws to issue $45,000,000 more Panama bonds. In the tariff bill provision is made for an issue of $40,000,000 more to be issued in the next few months and the Secretary of the Treasury to issue $250,000,000 certificates of indebtedness, running one year. Present laws permit an issue of $100,000,000 of these certificates to be issued in the next few months and the Secretary of the Treasury to issue $250,000,000 certificates of indebtedness, running one year.

The working balance of the Treasury yesterday, at the close of business, was $89,000,000. This balance is being daily depleted by necessary disbursements. It has been piling up the deficit all day long. So far the deficit amounts to $88,000,000 in round numbers. By the end of the month it will be in excess of $200,000,000, or an average of $10,000,000 each month during the year.

By the end of the month the working balance will surely be depleted to as low a point as $45,000,000 and possibly as low as $40,000,000. This sum must be taken care of by the sale of Panama bonds and the sale of $40,000,000 of these bonds may be added to the $45,000,000 from the sale of Panama bonds and about $11,000,000 more that may be withdrawn from national banks. There are $6,000,000 on deposit with the banks, but $5,000,000 of this is with permanent depositaries, which would be subject to the government at different collection points and are required to keep bonds on hand to guarantee the deposits placed daily with them. From bonds and depositaries, therefore, it is possible to replenish the working balance and meet the deficit to the extent of $55,000,000, supplementing the available working balance at the end of the year of $40,000,000, leaving a total of the good of $95,000,000 in the next fiscal year.

Depositing on Customs. Secretary MacVeagh is understood to be hopeful of increased receipts from customs right along. As a business man he knows that when the panic struck the country, eighteen months ago, importers and jobbers had immense stocks of goods on hand. These stocks have been made to answer the demands of business in the country, along with the comparatively scant imports made in the same period.

As a consequence the big stock importations have been reduced, and the revenues of the government have been greatly affected. With the exhaustion of these large stocks and a reviving of business the imports are now on the increase and the result may, it is hoped, be a steady increase in customs receipts, even in the face of the tariff and the hesitating disposition of importers to bring to this country just sufficient stock to carry their business until the new law is passed.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., March 20.—Five men were killed and a score injured in an explosion at the Sunnyside coal mines near this city this afternoon.

The explosion was caused by a windy shot, due to an overcharge of powder, said to have been placed by John Pettit. Pettit is burned over his entire body and will die.

The dead were all killed by sulphuric fumes which followed the shot. The mine was swept as if by a whirlwind.

Twenty-nine men were in the west shaft of the mine when the explosion occurred. Within an hour after the explosion the mine was cleared, although the first rescuers were almost suffocated on going down in the mine.

Miners Thrown About.

The dead, injured and suffering miners were found thrown over all portions of the west shaft. Many recovered sufficiently to crawl to the shaft unaided. The men in the north shaft, who were not seriously affected by the explosion, were most active in the work of rescue.

As news of the disaster spread, a large crowd gathered, in which were scores who had relatives in the mine.

The first intimation of the disaster to the surface was a terrific concussion, which stopped the fan. Realizing what had occurred, the engineer turned full power on the fan and began filling the mine with fresh air.

Air Admitted to Mine.

At the bottom of the shaft George Pares, a less crazy than his fellows, opened the trap door, allowing the air to reach the men in the north entry. These crawled along the floor to the shaft and were hoisted to the surface.

Immediately the work of rescue was begun. Sixteen miners, who were lowered into the shaft, were almost overcome by fumes. They remained at their task, however, sending the wounded to the surface, where ambulances were waiting.

By 3:30 o'clock the body of the last victim, that of Joseph Schenck, president of the local miners' union, had been brought to the surface. Three of the rescuers fainted when they reached the surface with Schenck's body.

Sidney Page of This City and Miss Brooks Married.

Special Dispatch to The Star.

WORCESTER, Mass., March 20.—The marriage of Sidney Page of Cleveland Park, Washington, D. C., and Miss Hildegard Brooks of 14 Bowdoin street, took place this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Rufus S. Woodward, sister of the bride, 20 Chestnut street. Rev. Thomas F. Davies, rector of All Saints' Church, officiated and the wedding was strictly private.

Mr. Page is a geologist in the Geological Survey of the United States. Miss Brooks is one of the wealthiest women in Massachusetts. They will live in Washington.

TESTIMONIAL TO PENROSE.

Pennsylvania Postmasters Are Hosts at Philadelphia Banquet.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 20.—A notable testimonial dinner was tendered Senator Boies Penrose of Pennsylvania here tonight by the Postmasters' Association of Pennsylvania in recognition of his work as the chairman of the Senate committee on post offices and postal roads, and as the head of the United States postal commission. Among the guests were Postmaster General Frank Hitchcock, his four assistants, Senator Guggenheim of Colorado and several representatives from this and other states.

About two hundred letter carriers from the Philadelphia post office in full uniform, carrying the regulation letter pouch, paraded the hall during the first stages of the dinner, and part of the musical program was furnished by the band composed of employees of the local post office.

During the dinner, which was attended by about 300 of the 500 postmasters in the state.

DIES IN TERRIBLE AGONY.

Woman Near Hancock, Md., Mistaken Poison for Medicine.

Special Dispatch to The Star.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., March 20.—Dr. R. P. Pitsoogle, county health officer, was today notified of the death last night under peculiar circumstances of Mrs. Lera Fletcher, near Hancock, this county. According to the report made to Dr. Pitsoogle the woman died from the effects of a dose of poison, administered or taken, presumably, by mistake for medicine. A physician was summoned, but was not informed of the poison feature until after she was dead.

The woman died in terrible agony. Owing to the air and Southern railway, composed of sixteen loaded cars, got beyond control on the steep grade from Boreas pass on the crest of the continental divide and jumped the track at a sharp curve while going at the rate of ninety miles an hour. Engineer "Bud" Schwartz, who stuck to his engine in the face of the disaster, was instantly killed. The other members of the train crew jumped and escaped with minor bruises.

When Engineer Schwartz realized that his train was beyond control he grasped the wheel levers and all the way down the steep grade of steep grade his engine kept giving out its shrill note of warning. Schwartz was to his death with the cord in his hand.

Special Dispatch to The Star. RICHMOND, Va., March 20.—Joseph P. Brady, clerk of the United States district court for this district, announced today on his return from Washington, whither he had been summoned by the Department of Justice, that the original documents in the arrest and trial of Aaron Burr for treason, which have been a part of the records in the federal court here since 1807, would be sent to Seattle as a part of the government exhibit in the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition. These documents are kept in a vault in the federal building, and are entrusted to but few persons.

The papers, which have remained in the undisturbed possession of the federal court here since the date of the trial in the summer of 1807, are a little yellowed with the flight of years and dignified with dust. They comprise in all sixty separate exhibits, among which are the original indictment against Burr for treason, which have been a part of the records in the federal court here since the date of the trial in the summer of 1807, are a little yellowed with the flight of years and dignified with dust.
